THE PINK FURRY BALL

Once upon a time there was a very sad boy because he didn't have friends. One day, when he was walking alone, he found an egg, and he took it to his house. Weeks later, when he was doing his homework, the egg started cracking, and a little pink furry ball jumped out. The boy was very surprised, it was an alien! The boy adopted it, and he gave him a name, which was LOLIPOCHITIN. He was his new best friend.

One day, when the boy was at school, LOLIPOCHITIN planned to turn the boy into a blue furry ball, like him, but blue. When the boy arrived home, LOLIPOCHITIN was at the door waiting for him, and when he patted it, LOLIPOCHITIN jumped into his head, and he injected some of his D.N.A. on him, and he became a blue furry ball.

One day later, they decided to turn the entire world in furry balls of different colors, so they did it, and they lived happily forever.
