Raul and Jake, Great Pancake!

Once upon a time there was a shrimp named Jake... no, no, no, no, this story is not going to begin like this. My name is Jake and this is my story. I used to live in the sea, but one time a diver came to my town, he picked all of my friends including me. It was a long trip, but finally we got into a little glass container, it looked like the sea but it wasn't. 20 minutes later I heard a fat man shouting, "A shrimp, a shrimp. I need some shrimps". Then a big blue net came and took me and my friends away. I realized I was going to be eaten by humans. I needed a plan. After a few minutes of thinking a bright idea came to my mind. I saw a bird, so I knew I needed to fly. How? I didn't know, but I needed to fly. Another idea came to my mind: it was to whistle and dance at the same time so the bird would think I was a delicious worm. It worked. The bird came straight to me and grabbed me with its huge beak. He ate me but because of my shell he spat me out. I fell down to the floor, I was so dizzy; the bird was pecking me so I asked him to stop. He told me that he was very hungry, so I told him to give me an opportunity, that I was a very good chef, that I could cook him my very special plate - pancakes. He tasted them and told me that they were the best pancakes he had ever tasted. After we had a great idea, it was to create a restaurant named Raul and Jake, Great Pancake! And now we have the best pancake restaurant in the city.
